

Out to Innovate™ 2017

Connect. Create. Innovate.

March 4-5, 2017

Danvers, MA

The event:

The fourth biennial Out to Innovate™ Career Summit for LGBTQ People in STEM, presented by NOGLSTP will be March 4-5, 2017, in Danvers, MA.

Tell me more:

Out to Innovate™ is the only cross-generational summit for career development and enrichment of LGBTQ+ undergrad through postdoc students, academics, and career professionals in the Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) fields. Out to Innovate™ is committed to furthering the presence, acceptance, and success of LGBTQ individuals in STEM higher education and careers. This summit is for everyone who wants to help build a strong STEM education pipeline and workforce. The summit includes networking activities, poster contest, career workshops and fair, panel discussions, gala awards banquet and more. Registration includes meals.

Connect, create and innovate with...

300-400 smart, motivated, and talented LGBTQ+ higher education students, academics, and career professionals in STEM fields and their allies.

Featured KeynoteSpeakers:

Victoria Orphan, PhD,

Professor of Environmental Science and Geobiology at Caltech, 2016 MacArthur Fellow - Geobiologist whose studies of microbial communities in extreme environments are shedding new light on the biogeochemical processes underlying the cycling of nutrients and energy that shape the Earth's climate.

Raynard Kington, MD, PhD,

President, Grinnell College, former acting director of the NIH – research includes social determinants of health and more recently diversity in the scientific workforce.

Kei Koizumi, MA,

Former Assistant Director for Federal Research and Development and Senior Advisor to the Director for the National Science and Technology Council at the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP)

Further Information:
oti@noglstp.org
www.outtoinnovate.org

follow Out to Innovate™

